

TURKISH ATTACK BY LAND FORCE ENDS IN DEFEAT

Attempt to Destroy Water Supply of Tripoli Is Intended as a Surprise to Italian Marines Guarding the Conquered City—Repulse Is Aided by Italy's War Ships.

Turks Fight Courageously, but Are No Match for the Excellent Marksmanship of the Opponents—Casualties on Side of Turkey Heavy—Italian Loses Slight.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.
Tripoli, Oct. 10.—The Boume Niana fortifications were attacked at 2 o'clock this morning by 300 Ottoman infantry with the object of cutting the aqueduct used in furnishing the city of Tripoli with water. The earthworks were held by 250 Italian marines under command of Maj. Cagni, the hero of the Abruzzi north pole expedition. After twenty minutes of heavy firing the Ottomans were repulsed with one killed and one wounded, 100 yards from the fortifications.

SECOND ATTACK FAILS.

A second attack was made at 3 o'clock this morning. In the full moonlight the Turks were observed advancing slowly and carefully, using the sand dunes for cover. Maj. Cagni allowed them to advance within 200 yards. The Turks then attempted to rush the fortifications, but were routed by a well-regulated fire from the Italian Marines.

The guns of the war ships Cante, Alberto and Sicilia followed this up with their missiles, along the path of the flight of the retreating Turks. Several Turks were found dead on the field, with rifles and other articles of equipment lying all about. An Arab spy who was captured said the Turks had succeeded in carrying off their wounded.

The cable between this city and Malta, giving Tripoli communication with the outside world, was repaired to-day. The censorship continues to be enforced. The wires are kept busy with official dispatches between Rome and Tripoli.

DETAILS OF BATTLE.

London, Oct. 10.—Herald Burefax wires his paper, the Telegraph, the following account from Tripoli, of the engagement there early to-day between the Turks and Italians.
"The Italians have won their first land action here. Friendly fire had given warning that the Turks would probably attack and try to enter Tripoli during the night. Ample precautions were taken to re-enforce all points, and particularly the new ones to the south. The enemy was discovered about 1 a. m. advancing in two columns, supported by field guns. Fortunately, there was bright moonlight, and the fleet, judiciously assisted by watching with searchlights all night.
The Turks appeared in good order to the number of several thousand, supported by machine guns, and were within a few hundred yards, marines from the works and trenches opened a tremendous rifle fire upon the enemy and were supported by machine guns and field artillery.
Turks Showing Courage.
"The intended Turkish surprise entirely failed, but the Ottomans stood to their attack courageously, with steady fire, and striving to press home the action at first on the west. The Italian marines, however, were unshaken and undaunted and fought most brilliantly, firing with steady and deadly accuracy. They beat back every attempt of the enemy, standing as a rock tossing aside the wild sea surges.
"From 1.30 a. m. until 2 a. m. the rifle fire was fierce and continuous, after which it dwindled, and later ceased. The enemy then retreated, having suffered severe losses. On the eastern side an attacking column of Turks failed to turn that flank of the Italian defense. They advanced into a palm belt and threw shrapnel shell, which fell quite near the Esparto factory, by the sea, but the Italians held fast and drove away every advance, both front and flank. The behavior of these sturdy marines was admirable, and could not have been bettered by any troops.
Fleet Well Handled.
"The fleet was cleverly arranged and contributed to the success of the battle. When the rifle fire became heavy several of the vessels, including the cruisers and battle ships, opened with their minor batteries, directing the shells over the town to fall upon the Turks and cover the Italian front and flanks against the rushing of the enemy.
The fleet's firing was deliberate and well-placed, and was directed by signals and wireless. After the rifle fire had ceased the ships continued to pursue the retreating foe with shells from their heavier guns. The shooting went on until 4 a. m. The Italian casualties were slight.

Aim at Italy's Commerce.
Constantinople, Oct. 10.—Orders for the seizure of all Italian vessels plying Turkish waters and all Italian merchandise throughout the Ottoman empire were issued to-night by the Turkish cabinet.

The cabinet also decreed that all Italian scholastic, financial, and industrial institutions throughout the empire must close their doors at once. Notification of the plans will be served on the Italian authorities here at once.

The cabinet has been holding two sessions daily. There have been several special sessions at night.

Arim Bey, Turkish minister at Sofia, has accepted the portfolio of foreign affairs.

Reports Lack Confirmation.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

London, Oct. 10.—Four Italian war ships have been destroyed by the Turks within the past few days, according to reports received here. One dispatch from Benghazi says two Italian cruisers are reported to have been destroyed near there. Another telegram from Derna says two torpedo boat destroyers have blown up by mines.

None of these reports have been confirmed.

Transit Italy? Never Again.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald.

London, Oct. 10.—Mahmoud Shevket Pasha, Turkish minister, in an interview with the Daily Mail correspondent at Constantinople, made the astounding confession to-day that Turkey had no war plans prepared for a campaign against Italy.

"The war burst upon us unexpectedly and unprepared," said the minister. "In the Ottoman general staff we have war plans prepared for campaigns against every one of our neighbors. They are renewed and altered if required every year. But for a campaign with Italy I assure you not the slightest outline of a plan existed. There are some reasons for this. Turkey's army as a scientific organization, is only two and a half years old. We are poor. Our budget will not allow us to provide for the military needs of the empire. We have to concentrate our forces in our European possessions, leaving the Asiatic and African provinces practically unprotected. We trusted for the safeguarding of Tripoli to international law and honor."
The pasha's voice rose and he waved his hands with vivid and indignant gestures.

"We have been bitterly deceived. I am a soldier and I say what's in my heart. I say openly I can never again trust the word of Italy."

Censorship Ferocious.

The Standard's Rome correspondent wires his paper that the censorship being enforced by the Italian government has assumed "ferocious proportions."
"The Rome newspapers," the correspondent continues, "were not allowed to publish the fact that the first section of troops sailed from Naples for Tripoli during last night, escorted by the battleships Donna Napoli, Vittoria Emanuele, and Regina Elena, and several cruisers. The transports carried 18,000 men. This is the detachment believed to have landed to-day at Tobruk. Cyrenaica."

A FOOLHARDY TRIP.

Some Details of the President's Journey of Mount Rainier.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 10.—The members of the Taft party are greatly relieved that his itinerary will include no more expeditions so hazardous. It is foolhardy, as that up Mount Rainier, where the eagerness of the residents of Tacoma for an appropriation of $250,000 with which to complete the road on the mountain led them to take the President beyond the foot of the glacier and over a half-completed mountain road, scarcely wide enough for an automobile, with sheer precipices rising 1,000 feet or more on one side, and with a no less sheer decline on the other.
The prolongation of the expedition necessitated a return after dark through mud extremely conducive to skidding, and along a trail which has already taken two lives this fall through the skidding of an automobile, which was precipitated over a 1,000 foot precipice. The President enjoyed the hazardous trip, but those with him could not escape grave anxiety regarding his safety.
Several automobiles became mired, and with their own power could go no further. The President's car was in advance of these and managed to pass through even the worst parts of the road. Forest rangers pulled several of the stalled automobiles from the mire, and they were turned back before the return trip before the President's car reached them on the way down. Four cars, however, were left stranded in the mountains.

PLAN NOVEL DUEL.

Mexicans Will Use One Loaded, One Empty Pistol.

Mexico, Oct. 10.—Juan Espinosa Torres, governor of Chiapas, and Dr. Belisario Dominguez will fight a novel duel tomorrow to decide the rival claims of San Cristobal and Tuxtla as the capital of the state. Two pistols, one unloaded and one loaded, will be used. The two contestants will be put in a bag. Torres draws one and Dominguez the other, each places the pistol to the other's head and pulls the trigger. One dies and the other lives. The duel has been arranged for daylight.

MRS. VON CLAUSSEN SENT TO ASYLUM

Will Have Her Sanity Tested at Bellevue.

New York, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Ida von Clausen, twice married and twice divorced, and possessor of a large fortune, is being treated by her father and grandfather. She was committed to the Bellevue Hospital to have her sanity investigated, following a brief hearing before Magistrate Herbert, before whom she was taken as a result of her action in sending a telegram to Justice Greenbaum of the Supreme Court, threatening him if he did not see that justice was done in her effort to set aside a divorce she obtained from her former husband, Dr. William Francis Honan, five years ago.

Ridiculously in furs and stinks, Mrs. von Clausen sat directly in front of Magistrate Herbert and smiled and winked at him throughout the entire proceedings. Called to the stand, she said that she had been notified in Chicago that her suit to set aside her divorce was ready for trial, but Justice Greenbaum later refused to go ahead with the case.
She had borrowed $100 she said, and had telegraphed Justice Greenbaum and her attorney, former District Attorney Kahle, of Pittsburgh. She declared she did not want to be committed until after she had testified in her divorce suit. "Then you can do anything you please with me," she said. When told by the magistrate that he had decided to commit her to Bellevue, she jumped to her feet and cried:

"If you do I'll appeal to the German Emperor. You'll find yourself handling her if you handle me. If you do such a thing, do you know what you are doing? You are taking my reputation. I'm far above all of you. Rats! I'm sick of this. Come, lawyer, let's get out of here," and the young woman took the arm of Attorney Robinson and started up the aisle.

She was permitted to go to the hospital in the custody of her counsel.

ELECTION PROBERS THROWN INTO JAIL

Registrars Take Radical Action When Crossed.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 10.—The crowning performance in the election frauds took place at Curtis Bay, on the other side of the river, to-day, where Holmes R. Johnson, a Baltimore attorney, and Philip Morgan, of Glenburnie, and a member of the grand jury of Anne Arundel County, were notified by order of the registrars in the Fifth district, of Anne Arundel County, handcuffed, and taken from a lockup, at Curtis Bay, to the Annapolis jail.

They had offered a list of voters, who swore they were not qualified, and which the registrars refused to accept. Becoming angered, the officials ordered their arrest. They were brought before Judge Brashears on a writ of habeas corpus and released on $200 bail. During their stay in the lock-up they claim they were refused food and water.

To-night Mr. Morgan presented another list to the registrars in a Brooklyn district, whereupon the registrars not only refused to accept them, but shut up shop an hour earlier than the law provides to avoid service. Chairman Hanna summoned counsel to-night and declared that the registrars in both districts would be prosecuted.

They were held before Judge Brashears on a similar charge last year and pleaded ignorance of the law. They were discharged with the warning that if it occurred again they would be punished. The law governing suspect lists makes it mandatory on the registrars to accept them when presented in proper form, and to summon the men to appear and prove they are qualified.

OIL KING IS FAT: WEIGHS 190 POUNDS

Tarrytown, N. Y., Oct. 10.—John Rockefeller announced to-day that he had gained twelve pounds since June, and that he now weighs a few ounces more than 190 pounds—more than he ever weighed before.
"It will not be surprising if Mr. Rockefeller passes the 200-pound mark," said a friend of the oil king, this afternoon. "He is improving steadily in health, and is wonderfully active for a man of his age."
"He attributes his good health to outdoor exercise. After breakfast he spends an hour looking after improvements on his estate, and about 10 starts playing golf. This keeps him busy nearly all day."

CHILD'S GUARDIANS WILL CARE FOR HER

Wayward Girl Is Held, but Men's Names Kept Secret.

A sixteen-year-old girl, Lillian Shenk was yesterday committed to the care of the Board of Children's Guardians by Judge De Lacy at the conclusion of a secret hearing in the Juvenile Court. It was stated last night that the police officials and John M. George, corporation counsel in charge of the Juvenile Court work, have the names of five young men well known in the city, who are alleged to be responsible for the girl's misconduct.

Up to the present time the names of these men have been kept secret by the police, although August Schuck, father of the girl, last night demanded that some action be taken against them. "She was lured away," he said, "by supper and auto rides and flattery. Her name has been made public, but the police screen the names of those who are really responsible for her misfortune. I wish I could get my hands upon them."

The girl, who lived at 621 Newton street, is now held at the House of Detention, was arrested at 2:30 o'clock in the morning as she alighted from an automobile in front of a house at Thirtieth and E streets northwest, where she had taken a room. She was charged with the theft of a watch from one of her unknown male companions.

The question of prosecuting the quintet will be decided to-day by Mr. George.

SING FOR SONS OF VETERANS.

The Confederate Choir, which will give a concert at the reunion of Col. Mosby's Command at Manassas, Va., October 18, entertained the United Sons of Confederate Veterans last night at the Confederate Memorial Home, 122 Vermont avenue northwest.

Plans were discussed for a concert tour of the choir which is composed of twenty-two young ladies, who have been making a name for their organization for the past three years in and around Washington.

E. H. Daniels is musical director of the choir. The officers are Mrs. C. H. Fred, captain; Miss Helen Norton, first lieutenant; Mrs. William Fred, adjutant; Miss Lillian Simms, treasurer; Mrs. Elsie McKnight, quartermaster, and Mrs. Maude Howell, chairman of the entertainment committee.

GIANTS FAVORITES IN THE BETTING

New Yorkers Offer Five to Four on McGraw's Team.

New York, Oct. 10.—With the interest in the world's series baseball games increasing hourly as the opening game approaches, numerous wagers on the outcome of the contests are being recorded. The Giants continue to be slight favorites at odds of about 5 to 4.

Applications for tickets continue to pour into the office of the New York club, where a force of clerks working night and day is necessary to keep up with the mail. Approximately $200,000 has been received in checks for tickets. To-day the tickets arrived from a printing establishment in Philadelphia, and a force was put to work mailing them to the persons whose applications and money had been accepted. So great is the number of applications, however, that it is thought some of the applicants will not receive their tickets before Saturday morning. The time for making applications for tickets expired last night, but today it was decided to accept further applications for tickets for the entire series. No more applications for tickets for single games will be received until the open sale of tickets that are left over begins.

McGraw is now giving some of his men a rest. Capt. Doyle, who twined his ankle yesterday, did not report for duty to-day, and it is reported the injured member is healing nicely, and that the second baseman will be in the line-up next Saturday. Catcher Meyers is being given a good rest, as it is up to him to catch all the games. He has not worked since last week. Mathewson, Ford, and Witte will not pitch before the world's series unless McGraw thinks they need limbering up, and in that case he will send them in for an inning or two in the three remaining games with Brooklyn, which are to be played in this city.

LAUNCH CUBA'S NAVY.

Officials and Friendly Spectators at Ceremony.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—The entire navy of the republic of Cuba was launched this afternoon at the yards of the Cramp Shipbuilding Company, when the Cuba, a first-class cruiser and the Patria, a training ship, took the water, with Senator Mariana Gomez and Senator Narisosa Gomez, daughters of President Gomez, acting as sponsors. The Cuba, which was launched at 3 o'clock, and twenty minutes later the Patria took the water. The young sponsors smashed the bottles over the prow with such force that each ruined an exquisite dress. A large crowd of Cubans, including a delegation of students from the University of Pennsylvania were enthusiastic spectators.

SINGHI SEEN IN LOWEL.

Father of Kidnapped Boy Traded to New England.

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 10.—Ferdinand Singhi, of Philadelphia, who left his home several days ago, taking with him his three-year-old son, is in Lowell and was recognized to-day by several persons who knew him when he was employed in a theater here. He is believed to be stopping with influential friends, although this is denied by one of the family with whom the Singhis were at one time intimate. The father was accompanied in his walk about the city by the little boy, whom the millionaire picture man Lubin is so anxious to have return to his home.

Helke's Conviction Affirmed.

New York, Oct. 10.—The United States Court of Appeals to-day affirmed the conviction of Charles R. Helke, secretary of the American Sugar Refining Company.

HIS MOTION IS SECONDED.

Mieszlaw Strackowski, a member of Uncle Sam's navy, yesterday petitioned the court to be permitted to change his name to Mark Strook, claiming that his present name is unpronounceable by English-speaking people.

NEW AERO RECORD.

Rodgers Has Flown 1,399 Miles in Long Journey.

Marshall, Mo., Oct. 10.—After breaking the world's long distance aeroplane flight record, held by Harry Atwood, Calbraith P. Rodgers, flying in the transcontinental race for the $50,000 Hearst prize, landed here at 1:55 o'clock this morning. Rodgers flew 24 miles to-day. He has flown 1,399 miles since leaving New York, eclipsing the world's record, 1,295 miles, held by Atwood, by 104 miles.

Gathering darkness prevented Rodgers from resuming his flight, and he announced that he would spend the night here and resume his journey to Kansas City in the morning. Marshall is eighty-five miles east of Kansas City, and approximately 23 miles from Springfield, Ill., Rodgers starting place this morning. When Rodgers flew over Mexico, Mo., the record of Atwood, the Boston aviator, for long-distance aeroplane flights, was smashed. The distance between New York and St. Louis covered by Atwood in his record-breaking flight, is the same as between New York and Mexico, Mo., and when Rodgers passed Mexico he exceeded Atwood's record. Rodgers in his flight to-day at times exceeded ninety miles an hour.

BIG CROWDS GREET TAFT IN SEATTLE

Visits Navy Yard and Reads Criticism of Pastors.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 10.—After two days' swing through stand-pat territory in this State, President Taft comes to-night to this city, where insurgency has a foothold. But the President found a different sentiment toward him than was manifested at Seattle.

Early in the day he had the most boisterous welcome he has had on his entire trip from Boston. Here instead of the tumultuous cheering that greeted him in Seattle, he passed along the streets on the way from the station with little applause.
This city is the home of Representative Warburton, an insurgent of the La Follette type and Tacoma's sentiment goes strongly toward the progressive ideas. The Congressman rode with the President from Seattle along with Gov. Hay. The President found on his arrival here that a rumour had been kicked up because of his automobile junket up the slope of Mount Rainier last Sunday, when he stopped off on his way to Bellinham. The ministers' alliance strongly denounced the trip on the Sabbath in resolutions framed yesterday saying mountain climbing ought to be done on week days. Tacoma appeared to be all worked up over the incident. Mr. Taft read a newspaper on the way here which told of the fuss the clergy were making because he failed to go to church, and instead went up a snow-capped mountain. He made no comment.

The President's stay in Seattle was one of the most encouraging to come on his long trip. In a two-mile automobile trip through the progressive ideas of this morning the President was cheered until the streets reverberated with the racket.

Fully 6,000 people saw him go out on parade with an escort of militia. At Dillon Park 15,000 heard him talk on peace and arbitration. Seattle is the home of R. A. Ballinger, former Secretary of the Interior, whose part Mr. Taft took in the Ballinger controversy, and Seattle likes Ballinger for his conservation fight.

Mr. Ballinger rode with the President in the parade and Mr. Taft took luncheon at the former Secretary's home.
Mr. Taft left Seattle on a steamer at 2 o'clock this afternoon for a sail on Puget Sound, stopping on the way at the navy yard at Bremerton. On the steamer he shook hands with Rear Admiral Colman, who escorted him to the navy yard barracks.

To the 1,000 residents of Bremerton in the navy yard parade grounds, the President spoke of the move under way for a third immense dry-dock for war vessels at the Puget Sound yard. They have one dry-dock there, and are building another, but Warburton wants to make the Puget Sound yard the greatest launching place Uncle Sam possesses. They figure that it will be necessary to have such a yard on the Pacific after the Panama Canal is opened and war vessels fly through from one ocean to the other.

NEW STRONG MAN.

Harvard Center Proves to Be a Physical Marvel.

Cambridge, Oct. 10.—Harvard has a new strong man, Frederick Dane Huntington, of Leicester, Mass., center on the football team and one of the lightest men Harvard has had in that position for years.

Huntington this year displaces F. H. Leslie, who was Harvard's strongest man last year, beating the ex-champion out for the premier position by ninety-four points. According to the strength tests given out at the Hemenway gymnasium and figured on the Sargent system, Huntington's record for this year is a total of 1242 points.

With his legs Huntington lifted 1,352 pounds, and with his back 594 pounds. Following this exercise with a few minutes' intermission, the champion "chinned" himself sixteen times, and after a minute's rest he "dipped" twenty-five times. Huntington only weighs 163 1/2 pounds.

Alleged Lyncher Acquitted.

West Chester, Pa., Oct. 10.—Oscar Lampert, a Coatesville iron worker, charged with being an accessory before the fact to lynching of Zack Walker, in Coatesville on August 18 last, was this afternoon acquitted. This makes the fifth acquittal in the Coatesville lynching case.

M'NAMARAS WILL NOT ASK CHANGE OF VENUE TO-DAY

Younger Brother to Be Placed on Trial First.

HARD TO SELECT JURY

Days May Be Consumed Before the Panel Is Completed.

Both Prosecution and Defense in Noid Labor Case Express Confidence of Victory—Clarence Darrow Makes an Appeal for More Funds, Saying Only $120,000 Has Been Contributed to Date.

Los Angeles, Oct. 10.—The last word in the preliminary arrangements for the trial of John J. and James B. McNamara, on the charge of blowing up the Los Angeles Times Building with dynamite on the morning of October 1, 1910, has been spoken.

To-morrow morning at 10 o'clock the McNamara brothers will be brought before Judge Walter N. Bordwell's division of the Superior Court to answer to the charge of murdering Charles Haggerty, one of the nineteen victims of the explosion.

WANT ANOTHER JUDGE.

There will be no effort made by attorneys for the McNamaras to secure a change of venue. Instead, Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the accused men, will make formal motion for a change of judges. This motion will be denied forthwith.

A motion will then be made by the defense for separate trials, and this will be followed by the announcement of District Attorney John D. Fredericks that James B. McNamara, accused of actually placing the dynamite that destroyed the Times building, will be the first to face the jury. He will be retained in court, while John J. will be taken back to his cell in the county jail to await trial on a similar indictment.

The next step will be the work of selecting the jury. Of the original venire of 125, only fifty-three will appear in court to undergo the final test. Twelve of these men will be ordered into the jury box at a time and subjected to a cross-examination of questions by the prosecution and defense.

Many Will Be Excused.

Those who are found ineligible will be excused and others called to take their places.

On the eve of the trial both the prosecution and defense are carefully guarding their plans. District Attorney Fredericks declares he has a perfect case and will have no trouble securing a conviction.

Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, is just as confident he will be able to tear to pieces what he declares is the flimsy evidence gathered by detectives working under the instructions of Detective Burns.

There is a report in circulation to-night that District Attorney Fredericks has decided to call in outside counsel to assist in the prosecution. Among the names mentioned in this connection are former Senator Flint and former Deputy Attorney General Oscar Lawler. The report is denied at the district attorney's office, but it is still given credence in some quarters, because of a number of conferences held during the past few days.

Ortie McManigal was again taken to the district attorney's office to-day for another final conference. It is said he spent his time going over hotel registers in an effort to trace his movements.

Both Sides Have Experts.

Expert chemists have been employed by both the prosecution and the defense. The defense will endeavor to show by these experts that the great force of the explosion was upward, and could not have been caused by dynamite. It will be contended, it is said, that the disaster was caused by the ignition of gas generated in ink barrels standing in a blind alley where the explosion occurred. Experts for the State will take the stand in rebuttal.

Attorney Darrow to-day made a statement of the finances of the defense. "We have received a total of $120,000 to date," he said. "Of this $20,000 has come in the past thirty days. We need more now. We have spent or owe all we have received. The $120,000 has come from labor unions through Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor."

The decision of the Indianapolis court refusing to allow physical evidence to be brought to California will result in the early appearance of Detective William J. Burns on the scene. Witnesses for the defense will not be brought here from other States until they are needed. Whether Mrs. McManigal will come has not been decided. She is ready to testify for the defense, but may not be called.

GONE WITH $2,000.

Navy Pay Clerk Disappears from Cruiser California.

Charles H. Gibbons, pay clerk on the armored cruiser California, of the Pacific fleet, has disappeared with $2,000 of the ship's funds, and the special agent of the Department of Justice have been asked to locate him.

Gibbons left his ship at Los Angeles recently. His disappearance was not noticed until the vessel had gone to sea. The case was reported to the Navy Department yesterday by Capt. Charles H. Harlow, commanding officer of the California.
